Product Announcements & Updates

Quick Detail Responsive Resizing available in Labs: By enabling this lab, users will be able to drag the QDP panel, resizing it up to the full screen width.

Saved and Shared Views on Work Views and Team Board: We've heard you loud and clear, you love the new pages, but it is frustrating not being able to share your view with your team. Well now you can!

Advanced Filtering: Team Board, Work Views, QDP Collections, and Quality Management all allow users to dive deeper into their data than ever before.

Dependencies Tab on Release Tracking Page: This new functionality introduces a table view of all of the items with dependencies in the selected release, including those items that are dependent on items in a different release.

Custom Chart - New Functionality: For those of you that haven't tried out Custom Chart, this is a powerful app that allows you to display and export data in many ways with options to create several chart types on a variety of work items.

Investments Functionality - Open Beta: With this new feature we are offering users a business centric view of work across projects and time boxes. Users will be able to associate financial information with a collection of work and they will be able to track their work in this context.

Sub-Admins: Help shape the future of Agile Central!

We are enhancing CA Agile Central help to provide additional functionality.

- Have you ever wanted to search for and view CA Agile Central help from your tablet or phone?
- Have you ever experienced delays displaying CA Agile Central help pages or videos?
- Do you need to access CA Agile Central help in German?
- Do you have team members with disabilities that need access to CA Agile Central help?

If you answered "yes" to any of these questions, then we'd like your feedback on these new features to ensure we are meeting your needs.

If you would like to enable your subscription to take part in this beta program (from July 23, 2018 through August 14, 2018) then please contact Robert Kennedy by clicking the button below.
