Product Announcements & Updates

Work Item Templates: These are similar to rich text templates in our Editable Details Page, but they are available in our Quick Detail Page (QDP) and they allow you to create templates for multiple fields at once and can include child tasks or stories. This new functionality will be in beta soon, so let us know in the discussion comments if you're interested in participating!

Improvements to Health of Large Adhoc Batch Jobs: In an effort to increase the health of large batch jobs hitting our adhoc endpoint, we have made changes to queue large numbers of requests using that endpoint. This change will reduce the number of active adhoc requests in our system by a single user to 16.

New "Risk" Work Items: This new work item type will allow you to track risks in Agile Central alongside all of your other work. You can ROAM risks from your planning meetings, link them to your portfolio items or add them to a release, and add tasks to tackle the actions related to the risk.

 # Fixed Defects for Feb. 14 : Our support and engineering teams are dedicated to improving your experience with CA Agile Central everyday. Please check out the list of recently fixed defects.
